

YOUR IMPACT

As a conservation charity we rely on kind donations from our supporters to carry out much of our vital work in ensuring that nature has a place to survive and thrive. Across the world there are over 1 million species at real risk of extinction and over half of them need support like ours both in the field and in zoos to ensure their survival. With your help we can continue our work to save species, protect habitats and drive change for the future.

A BRIGHTER FUTURE

EEHV is a virus that kills young elephants in zoos and in the wild. Thanks to the work carried out here with our elephants and working with partners, we have developed a vaccine that is now in the test phase. The hope is that it can be rolled out for use in zoos across the world and in the wild, saving elephants from this cruel virus and helping boost numbers of an endangered species. Join us today and help us to continue this groundbreaking work.
